

THE CREATOR OF

WORLDS

It is the future and humans are now living on multiple planets around the galaxy.

We now have the capabilities to design and create any planet we can dream of and you have been selected to design and name the next planet that we colonize and call our own.

I chose a planet made of sweets and desserts called Candy World, see below. The planet you dream up can be anything you want it to be.

INSTRUCTIONS

1) Sketch out on a note pad a list of ideas of what your new world might look like. Is it like earth or completely different? What makes it really cool and unique?

2) Now write down the name of your planet and describe what living on it is like. Try to give as many examples as possible and describe things like what's the weather like?, who lives on it?, how do they spend their time?, are there animals?, are there countries and leaders?

IDEAS OF WHAT YOUR WORLD MIGHT BE LIKE:

- Exactly like earth but time runs backwards
- All animals can talk
- Everything is edible
- Kids rule the planet
- Puppy World - where everybody has a free puppy
- It never gets dark
- The whole planet is an amusement park
